

The Library currently has one room, located on the lower level, available for public use. The room has a sink for arts & crafts. Please note that meetings are subject to interruption, as staff members may need to access periodicals and other materials stored in this room. Use of the meeting room is reserved for non-profit organizations, or job training and continuing education classes. Any group wishing to use the meeting room on a continual basis (6 months or more) should submit a request to the Library Director including proposed dates and times.
